

Description

A well-organized manuscript generally follows the IMRaD (Introduction, Methods, Results, and Discussion) format to convey the relevant information to the target audience. The concluding part of the manuscript is equally important. It helps readers to assess the implication as well as future direction of your research work. So how do you clearly organize your discussion and conclusions sections and what is the difference between the two?

To learn more the difference between the discussion and conclusion, click here.

Category

1. Career Corner
2. Checklist

Date Created

2018/08/06

Author

eneditor