

Description

Selecting the right journal for manuscript submission is an important aspect of the publication process. With the increase in the number of journals, proliferation of areas of specialization, and emergence of inter-disciplinary fields, making an appropriate choice has become a daunting task for researchers.

To know about effective tips to find the right journal for successful publication, click here.

Category

1. Checklist

Date Created

2018/06/15

Author

daveishan