

Description

Researchers often organize workshops and conferences to network, impart training, or discuss new developments in various research fields. However, conducting a conference requires not only planning for budget, logistics, venue etc. but also a good team and appropriate utilization of time and resources.

To know more about organizing high-quality conferences and workshops, click here.

Category

1. Checklist

Date Created

2018/06/26

Author

daveishan