Description

Dr. Cantu's lectures provided a very comprehensive overview of the AI tools available for academic writing, which will be very useful for researchers and PhD students. Among the tools, Trinka's proposal is very attractive because it facilitates the review of texts, improves the structure and allows finding a route in the search for journals that could be interested in the document. The intervention of Dr. Paula Andrea Ramírez presented very interesting reflections on good practices in ethics and artificial intelligence, evidencing the relevance and need to continue delving into this topic.
